

Milford Gardeners' Club Newsletter

Hello and seasons greeting to everyone

It's not been great weather for gardening recently but it's a time to dream of warmer days and lighter evenings and have a look at the "bare bones" of the garden, think about changes and new things to try growing next year, different planting schemes..... well at least that's what I have been doing!

Our social evening is coming up next week and the arrangements are detailed below.

We have a great programme for next year including an exciting speaker for January (see overleaf). If you can't make the social we hope to see you back with us in the New Year.

Sue Crabb – Chair

Christmas social evening

This is our first one at the Community Centre. The time is the same as usual: doors open at 7.00 pm. Please don't come before that as the Committee have some preparation to do.

We won't be having plants for sale this month and we are changing the layout of the hall a bit, just for the social. We have the Committee Room for the food; it's on the left hand side past the café. When you arrive, please go down the corridor and leave your food contribution in the Committee Room and then enter the hall through the door opposite, where Clare will have membership cards and the registers at a table in front of the hatch where the teas and coffees are usually served.

There will be no tea or coffee on this occasion as we are providing wine and soft drinks. Anne and Richard Bickle will be serving these in front of the stage.

Sue has been sorting out some quizzes and there will be two picture boards up which will require you to walk around if you wish to do them!! There will also be some table quizzes and Sue will be doing a short slide presentation.

Finally, just a gentle reminder that this is only "drinks and nibbles" so make sure you have some supper beforehand! We will be providing crisps so we won't need them but if you can make your food plate something with finger food on, ie. small things, sweet or savoury, that would be great.

David Domoney

We are very lucky to have David Domoney speaking to us at the January meeting. David will be well-known to those that watch 'Love Your Garden' with Alan Titchmarsh or 'This Morning', both on ITV.

Our budget does not normally stretch to 'celebrity' gardeners but we are lucky that Jenny Spenser "won" David in a prize draw at the Chelsea Flower Show! As Jenny is more than capable of designing her own garden (the prize was design advice from David), she persuaded him to come and speak to us instead.

You can find out more about David from the following links:
